

Ketij Mehulić, full Professor (permanent position), School of Dental Medicine University of Zagreb (2015.), Scientific advisor (2010.), Specialist of prosthodontics (1997.), Primarius (2007).

Born on January 23rd, 1963. in Split, Croatia.

Graduated from the School of Dental Medicine, University of Zagreb (1988.), graduated with a master thesis (1992.), PhD (1996.). Title of dissertation "The influence of temperature changes on the microstructure of IPS Empress ceramic".

Works at the School of Dental Medicine (since 1988.) and the University Hospital Centre Zagreb, Department of Dental Medicine (since 1997.)

Chairman of the Dental Materials module (since 2014.) and other postgraduate subjects.

Principal researcher of an MSE RH funded scientific project (2007-2014.) (1), MSE RH funded international project (2010-2012.) (1) and other scientific projects funded by the University of Zagreb (5). Associate researcher in a scientific project funded by the Croatian science foundation.

Mentor to PhD, MA and BA students. Principal mentor to residents of Prosthodontics and an examiner for specialist postgraduate studies' exams as decided by the Ministry of Health RH.

Author, editor, co-author of several university books. Published a large number of scientific, professional and educational papers.

Research interest: fixed prosthodontics, dental materials, dental ceramics.

Reviewer for a number of domestic and foreign journals. Member of the editorial board for several foreign journals.

Full member of the Academy of Medical Science since 2018.

Phone: +385 1 48 02 112

E-mail: mehulic@sfzg.hr